Data Flow Diagrams:-

I have an example for a Data Flow Diagram for a patient information system implemented in a certain hospital. The below figure, represents the overview diagram (level 0-diagram, if we consider that the first level is the context diagram then the second level is level 0 diagram and I have an example for a DFD for a patient information system implemented in a certain hospital.

The below figure, represents the overview diagram (level 0-diagram, if we consider that the first level is the context diagram then the second level is level 0 diagram.

In this system, patients can search and make appointments.

I try to understand the data flow that is labeled patient name and that is directed from the process Make appointment to the database Patients (see yellow highlight in the diagram).
